

True Republican, 6 September 1899

Adolph Holmgren died at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Peter Peterson, on South Harvester street, early last Thursday morning. He had not been strong for some years, owing principally to his advanced age, but he had been ill only about eight days before his death, which resulted from a difficulty of the stomach.

Adolph Holmgren was born in Hofmanstrop, Socken, Kronebergs Lan, Sweden, on June 23, 1822. He was married in that country, and in 1865 emigrated to America and became a resident of this vicinity where he had continued to reside. He was a carpenter by occupation.

The children who survive are, in the order of their birth: Anders, of Chicago; Mrs. Peter Peterson and Claus William, both of Sycamore; Mrs. Andrew Carlson, of Elgin; Gustaf Adolphus, and Miss Fanna, both of Chicago.

The funeral was held Saturday afternoon at 3 o'clock at the home. The interment was in Elmwood cemetery.
