JOHN REED, JR., eldest son, named from his father according to the old custom, appears on the Norwalk records first as a voter there in 1694. In Huntington's History of Stamford he is named as a purchaser of land of Stephen Clason of Stamford, 1691, of Cornelius Jones, 1709, and of Jonathan Bates, 1713. Colonial records cite him as admitted to the bar Oct. 7, 1708, and as attorney for the Crown and deputy for Norwalk. The inventory of his estate was filed at Fairfield, Conn., Nov. 12, 1724, and he probably died that year. His wife Elizabeth was the daughter of John
